TUITION

With over 20 years experience as a teacher of art, design and the history of art I am confident that I will be able to help you to advance your skills in these areas. I offer a range of options including private tuition, tailor-made classes for small groups and themed painting weekends [for which accommodation can be arranged if required.]

Tutorials are available in the history and theory of art as well as classes which focus on practical techniques.

A limited range of materials are included in the fee for each lesson, but students are encouraged to supplement these with materials and equipment of their own. Guidance on purchases can be given and discounts arranged with local suppliers.

Classes are regularly available during evenings or weekends on mutually agreed dates; there are no fixed terms and, as each class is booked separately, the intervals between lessons can also be flexible. In this way it is possible to fit the lessons in around a busy schedule rather than having to commit to the same day and time each week.

There is ample car parking at the studio and it is half a mile's walk from Hatton Station or a short taxi ride from Warwick Parkway.

During school holiday periods some classes may take place on weekdays by arrangement.

Once dates and times are agreed, payment is required not less than one week beforehand. Discounts may apply if a block of six or more lessons are booked ahead of time.

Please see the separate information sheets for full details of:

- Private Tuition from £60
- Tailor made Small Group Tuition £120 per half day for up to six participants.
- Three day painting events: £45 per day or £120 for three days.
- Bespoke in-service training for teachers.
